Public Notice #7 2020 Coronavirus Response

We all hope that we are helping things by keeping everything clean. In addition to washing our hands and using sanitizer after contact with other people or surfaces in public places, it makes sense that many will clean their homes, cars and other objects with disinfectant solutions.

Please remember that combining cleaners does not necessarily make them stronger. In fact, mixing some common household cleaners can be very dangerous. Combining bleach with just about any other common cleaner is a bad idea. The following link provides important information on staying safe from unintended chemical consequences:
